

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS RAILWAY STRIKE IS "AN ANARCHIST CONSPIRACY"

All Rail Transport in Great Britain is Paralyzed—Other Transport Workers and the Miners Threaten to Join in the Strike—London Faces Famine.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 27.—England today faces the greatest crisis in its history. The general railway strike, involving 400,000 workers, which began at midnight, threatened to paralyze industry throughout the nation. Premier Lloyd George terms it "an anarchist conspiracy." In stating the position of the government this afternoon, he declared the state would fight labor's blow with all the resources at its disposal. The premier appealed to the people for their support.

Miners May Join Strike.

The whole "triple alliance"—coal miners, transport workers and railway men—may be involved immediately. Every sign points to the backing of all branches of labor to bring about a nationwide tieup.

Already the strike movement is spreading. The dock workers, at Cardiff have gone out. The transport workers will take a strike vote Monday. The vehicular workers will vote tonight.

Food Crisis in London.

England, but especially London, faces a food crisis. The fish porters at Billingsgate have taken the lead among the food workers. They went out in sympathy, refusing to load fishing barges.

The Main Demands.

The main demands of the British railway workers are: Eight hour day; war wage advances to be converted into permanent wages; equal representation of unions on railway management boards and an annual vacation of two weeks on pay. The government's proposal for a standard wage as a basis for further negotiations was rejected.

Bob Williams, an official of the transport workers' union, declared today that "the triple alliance"—the miners, transport workers, and railwaymen's union—would be "automatically involved." This declaration came with the stunning force of a bombshell to England.

Sir Eric Geddes, minister of transport, went into conference with Premier Lloyd George shortly after noon.

Demobilization Suspended.

The government has suspended demobilization of the army and soldiers' leaves of absence, but it was stated this morning that "there is no present intention of operating trains with soldiers."

King George, who has been spending a vacation at Balmoral Castle, in Scotland, has left hurriedly for London by motor car.

The railway strike went into effect on scheduled time at midnight.

The morning rush hour found all of the suburban trains on the main and local lines running into the city tied up and tremendous congestion developed.

Milk Train Service Stopped.

Numerous street cars were quickly jammed to overflowing and thousands of workers living in the western suburbs, which were without cars entirely, were forced to walk to work. Some trudged six miles and more. All the milk train service was stopped, entirely and the railway mail service was tied up.

The government is concentrating every facility at its command to maintain all possible traffic and to fight the strikers "to a finish." The strikers will have a mass meeting tonight at Albert Hall when leaders of the strike, will address the men. Thomas and his staff have established headquarters in a hotel with beds set up in their offices so they can maintain "a night and day generalship."

The strike leaders express the utmost confidence over the outcome. The post office department was evidently caught unawares by the walkout and their plans to combat the strike movement were inadequate. Aeroplanes will be utilized as never before in carrying passengers, mails and freight.

The newspapers are unanimously antagonistic towards the strike, charging that it amounts to class rule. The Daily News calls it "a blindfold strike" and is supporting the government, although it is an opposition newspaper and in the past has lost no chance to attack the cabinet. The papers were the first to feel the strike, being unable to carry out their morning deliveries by rail. Automobile service was hurriedly organized to Plymouth, Cardiff, Shrewsbury, Leicester, Yarmouth, Ramsgate, Dover, Portsmouth and intermediate points.

Steps were taken during the day to organize regular automobile routes even to the northern points in Scotland.

Owing to the fact that martial law is still in effect in Ireland, Thomas ordered the railway men there to remain at work.

Despite the discomfort to which they were put, the thousands of union workmen, who were compelled to walk long distances to work, accepted the situation cheerfully. Among some of them there was even an air of satisfaction over the completeness of the tieup and apparent willingness to join the movement if ordered.

Should the bus men strike and the government put into effect measures to keep necessary trains running, it was stated this afternoon that the critical test of the strike would probably come on Monday. With provision trains cut off, the crisis in the meat situation is expected on Tuesday. There is every prospect that this city will be without milk by tonight.

The Herald, labor's official organ, expresses the belief that the government will use its military branch. It bases its belief upon the fact that army motor cars were rushed to the stations during the morning to haul away all possible goods.

The trainmen obeyed the strike order at midnight with military precision. Trains were left standing at station platforms, wherever they happened to be, and luggage was left unattended in the baggage cars.

The central committee of the strikers met during the morning and announced that reports of the strike had not been received.

The first industrial plants to close down on account of the strike was the Hickman Steel Works at Wolverhampton. Strike leaders declared that a score of others would be forced to shut down immediately.

Only one train left Victoria station manned by non-union men this morning, the strike leaders claimed. Earlier another train had departed from the city for Brighton, but it was manned by workers living in Brighton. The few arriving trains had to creep cautiously across the country as the signal towers were all deserted from midnight on.

"An Anarchist Conspiracy," says Lloyd George.

The position of the government towards the railway strike was outlined by Premier Lloyd George in a letter cancelling a speech he was to deliver at Carmarthen. After characterizing it as a strike against the community, the premier said:

"Never in my long and varied experience do I recall a strike entered into so lightly, with less justification and with such disregard for the public interests."

The premier declared that the government begged the men to postpone action in common justice and to give time to business men and housewives to prepare against a calamity, but they refused.

"This gives the impression that it is the deliberate and matured intention on the part of some individuals to seek a quarrel at any cost," continued the premier. "It has convinced me that it is not a strike for wages or better conditions, but an anarchist conspiracy."

"The government has reasons to believe that the strike was engineered for some time by a small active body which sought tirelessly and insistently to exploit the labor organization in this country to its subversive ends. I am convinced that the majority of trade unionists are opposed to this anarchist conspiracy."

The statement concluded:

"The unions see the ruin and misery brought to other lands. Common sense has withheld their organization against control of these intruders. And when they realize that they are not fighting for fair conditions of labor, but are being used by extremists for sinister purposes, common sense will resume its sway and save the country, you and me, from their own foolishness."

"The government intends to meet the blow with all the resources of the state. The government looks to the nation without distinction of class to bear the privations which this indefensible strike will inevitably entail, and help enforce law and order."

AVIATOR WILL DROP FLOWERS ON THE PARADE ON BROADWAY

Later Lieutenant Tate Will Give Exhibition at Forsyth Park—Every Soldier is Invited to Parade and Other Exercises of the Day.

The service boys, who participate in the big Welcome Home parade and celebration on October 1 will be honored, and the citizens of the county who witness it will be entertained in more ways than one. The latest addition to the many attractions is Lieutenant Bertram B. Tate, who was formerly flying instructor in Carruthers Field, Fort Worth, Texas, and at San Diego, California. He is now out of the service, but flies his own aeroplane which is an American Curtis, J. N. 4 D.

Lieutenant Tate will fly over Broadway as the parade passes along and will throw flowers, confetti and paper streamers over the service boys in the parade. The Garden Club has generously promised to supply the necessary flowers. This will be one way in which Kingston and Ulster county will exhibit its interest in the boys' welcome. He will also give an exhibition in flying over Forsyth Park in the afternoon.

Lieutenant Tate came to Kingston on Thursday and met Mayor Canfield and Aaron Cohen. He looked over several fields as possible landing places, but none were acceptable in their present condition. He finally decided to come here Friday to select a place from the air. He came down from Hudson in sixteen minutes and sailed over the city several times and finally selected the thirty acre field on the Cherry Hill Farm of Ralph K. Forsyth, which is on the Sawkill road a short distance from the Kingston bridge, as the best available place. He will come here on Tuesday next and remain until Thursday.

When the matter of financing the exhibitions came up for discussion, it was discovered that no moneys had been appropriated for such purpose as a government plane had been expected to come. Aaron Cohen and Ralph Cohen came to the rescue and generously offered to stand all the expenses incident to the exhibitions as a contribution from S. Cohen's Sons. The final plans were made this morning.

A government plane has been promised, but as the Air Service is low in its personnel and equipment at the present time, it was decided that the Ulster county boys should not be disappointed in anything which could be reasonably furnished to add to the success of the occasion.

Over two thousand invitations were sent out by Mayor Canfield, as chairman of the Welcome Home Committee, for the celebration for the service boys from Ulster county to the boys who represented the city and county in the war.

In sending out these invitations to the boys in the city it was necessary to use the Roll of Honor Tablet list, consisting of about 1,500 names. It was impossible to hunt up the street addresses of the respective boys. The invitations were therefore sent out addressed to them with the words, "Formerly in U. S. A. Service," printed after each name. The post office department and carriers offered their services in locating the boys and in seeing that the letters were properly delivered.

In the county outside of the city the only county list available was the list of those who had filled out their record cards and had secured their medals. Many of the names of the boys outside of the city are not on this list. It is asked that anyone who failed to receive an invitation will not consider that they have been slighted or have been forgotten. All the boys from the county who saw service as soldiers, sailors and marines, and the nurses and others who officially served, are most earnestly invited and urged to participate in uniform.

Mayor Canfield states that from the returns received from the boys, upwards of one thousand boys will be in uniform in the parade. It will be a wonderful sight and a wonderful occasion, and all roads in the county should lead to Kingston on next Wednesday.

PRESIDENT HAS RESTFUL NIGHT

Still in Bed on Special Train Speeding Toward Washington—Must Have Complete Rest and Quiet.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 27.—"The president's condition is about the same. He has had a fairly restful night."

(Signed)

"GRAYSON."

That was the manner in which Admiral Grayson summed up the condition of President Wilson, just before the presidential special reached this city. The president was still in bed and his physician hoped that he would remain there for the remainder of the journey back to Washington.

Complete rest was being enforced by Mrs. Wilson and Admiral Grayson as far as possible.

Everybody was kept out of the special car and no business of any sort was allowed to be brought to the attention of the president. Only complete quiet could restore his frayed nerves and only complete rest could check the hacking cough which has contributed as much as anything else to the president's present condition. And Mrs. Wilson was personally seeing to it that nature is given as much opportunity as possible to restore the strength of the president.

The route eastward of the special train was on schedule that had been quickened so that the journey may be shortened as much as possible.

Upon arrival at Washington, President Wilson will be given complete rest and as much medical treatment as is necessary for his quick recovery.

WAR CHEST REPORT SHOWS LESS THAN HALF OF PLEDGES PAID

More Than $30,000 of Industrial Pledges Unpaid—Three Towns Make a Comparatively Good Showing—Report in Detail up to September 15.

While the time for paying the War Chest pledges has nearly expired the report of payments made to September 15, shows that less than one-half of the amount of the pledges has been paid, and that this falling off in payments is in the city and county. Notable exceptions, however, are the towns of New Paltz, Woodstock and Saugerties, which have paid far above the average proportion of their pledges.

On the other hand, the Victory Boys and the Victory Girls and the Industrial concerns have fallen far short of their pledges.

More than three-quarters of the time in which the pledges were to be paid has expired. The falling down in payments has not been on the part of the largest contributors, however, as many of them have paid their pledges in full.

Those who signed the pledge cards should feel morally bound to fulfill their obligations, and that signing the pledge card was as binding as giving a note or making any other promise to pay. It is difficult to understand how any one could justify themselves for not completing payments to the War Chest fund.

The complete report to September 15, showing the various amounts pledged and the actual amount paid on the pledges, is given below.

WHEN FARMWORK'S LIGHT, LEARN MORE

Opportunity Offered to Study How to Grow Better Crops and Make Better Homes.

The time of year when work is lightest on the farm is the time the state college at Ithaca has set aside for its short courses in agriculture and home making. The dates for this year's session are November 5 to February 13.

No person need hesitate about enrolling in any of the courses offered because of lack of previous educational advantages, say the college authorities. These courses are vocational and not academic. No entrance examinations are required. Some students have, however, found themselves handicapped because they have become a bit rusty in English and arithmetic and have wished they had "brushed up" in these subjects before coming to college. There is no age limit to entrance. Any persons over 18 years of age may attend and tuition is of course free to residents of New York state. Men as well as women take the courses, not only in home making but in agriculture.

Besides the course in general agriculture, seven other courses are offered as follows: Dairy Industry, poultry husbandry, fruit growing, home economics, flower growing, vegetable gardening and game farming. Persons can make full use of their time by studying only such things as they are especially interested in.

Anyone who thinks he might like to take a short course at Cornell need only make a postal card request to the "Secretary, State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y." to receive full information.

SOME GOOD RECIPES FOR TOMATOES

None of Big Crop Should Be Allowed to Go to Waste—Tasty Preserves Possible.

A recipe for tomato preserves is being sent out by the home economics workers of the state college at Ithaca, N. Y., who say none of this year's abundant tomato crop should be allowed to go to waste. This is the way to make tomato preserves:

Take one peck green tomatoes, chopped; 5 pounds sugar; 4 or 6 lemons, sliced thin; cook the mixture until it is thick and clear, pour it into scalded jars and seal them.

Other recipes are:
Chutney—Two dozen ripe tomatoes, medium size, chopped; 6 onions, medium size, chopped; 3 red peppers, chopped; 1 dozen tart apples, chopped; 1 pound seedless raisins; 1 cup celery, cut fine; 2 quarts vinegar; 3 cups sugar; salt. Combine the ingredients, and cook the chutney until it is thick and clear. Pour into hot sterile jars, and seal them.

Spanish Pickles—One peck green tomatoes, sliced thin; 4 onions, sliced thin; 1 cupful salt; ½ ounce cloves; ½ ounce allspice berries; ½ ounce peppercorns; ½ cupful brown mustard seed; 1 pound brown sugar; 4 green peppers, chopped fine; cider vinegar. Sprinkle alternate layers of tomatoes and onions with salt, and let them stand overnight. In the morning drain them, and put them in a preserving kettle. Add the remaining ingredients, using enough vinegar to cover the mixture. Heat it gradually to the boiling point, and boil it for one-half hour, pour it into scalded jars and seal them.

GIVEN NAMES OF PRESIDENTS

Historical Appellations Bestowed on Summits of Mountain Range in Old Vermont.

Heretofore when one spoke of the presidential range everyone—every New Englander, at least—knew, without further particularizing, that Mount Washington and its attendant summits was the subject, writes Allen Chamberlain in the Boston Evening Transcript.

Henceforth one must needs be more specific, since during the last year a rival presidential range has appeared on the map in Vermont. That region, hitherto generally spoken of as the Broad Leaf Mountain section, lying between Middlebury gap and the Lincoln-Warren pass, was but little known, except in its southerly portion, until the Green Mountain club men ran their Skyline trail through. They found there a maze of unnamed summits grouped as in council, and seemingly worthy of being recognized as individuals of distinction.

Just north of these heights is the rugged mass whose summits have been known for more than half a century as Mounts Abraham and Lincoln. Quite naturally the idea of a new presidential range arose, and with great partisan restraint, four of the neighboring mountains were therefore named Mount Grant, Mount Grover, Cleveland, Mount Roosevelt and Mount Woodrow Wilson.

Sam Has Tragic History.

The "Regent" diamond, which is treasured in Paris, and is the queen of all the French national gems, was picked up in 1761 at the Parisian saloon of the Kermes, by a slave, who, consulting it in a hole cut for its reception in his thigh, escaped with it to the coast. Here he sold it to an East India shipper, who, instead of paying the small sum demanded, treacherously killed the slave.

President of St. Stephen's College
Insists on Wholesome Patriotism in Cleric Teachings.

Warning the church against "Jingoism" but urging a wholesome patriotism as an essential part of any religious creed, the Rev. Bernard Idings Bell, president of St. Stephen's Episcopal College at Annandale, N. Y., urges as part of the policy of the church in the new era the "internationalism for which Theodore Roosevelt stood."

This he described in a statement just issued, as "Love and respect for our own institutions, but seeking all the while to make them of service not only to ourselves but to all the nations of the world."

"The nation wide campaign of the Episcopal Church, of which the Every Name movement in the diocese of New York is a part," said Mr. Bell, "can achieve no higher results than to instill this principle in the minds and hearts of all Episcopalians. As Christians we can't be satisfied with a social order which contemplates the division of the world into conflicting nations."

"Without entering upon the field of political controversy, we can all agree upon the desirability of some sort of a league of nations, and regret that the president and the senate cannot agree speedily upon this vital issue. As a result of the conflict of the past five years, the heart of civilization is gone, nothing but a shell remains, and no man can see when that shell will not be cracked into fragments by the forces which have been let loose by the world war."

Out of his experience as a navy chaplain during the war Mr. Bell has brought a new vision into the work of the Every Name campaign of the Church of the Diocese of New York.

Clergy the Hope of Future.

"The hope for the future lies in the progressive far seeing clergy," he says. "There must not only be tolerance in the new age which has opened but broad human sympathy, and the basis upon which the church must operate is by substituting the motive of service for the motive of acquisitiveness. The principal task we hear in religious circles is of helping the church. No church can progress which aims merely to help itself. We have got to learn that no civilization can be built upon a foundation which tolerates as a permanent thing a situation where there are masters and servants. Politically we no longer have masters but actually we have and not only should the church recognize it, but it should bestir itself to end that condition. It is Christ's wisdom, and our responsibility."

"No man has a right to possess unless he serves. I have in mind an estate up here on the Hudson river owned by a family which doesn't even know where it is located. Forty self-supporting families used to live on it. Now it supports but two or three. The land is lying idle and the owners are living as parasites in a perfectly gorgeous way. No man has a right to possess what is not being used."

In the nation's budget of the Episcopal Church, which it is hoped will be adopted at the general convention of the Church at Detroit next month, is an item of $425,000 for improving and enlarging St. Stephen's College, of which Mr. Bell has just been made president, and which has the official sanction of the church.

This is made from one pound of flour rubbed smoothly in a little water. Add three quarts of boiling water and set on stove. Old Bridge Stood for Centuries.
The new London bridge was opened on August 1, 1931. This replaced the celebrated old bridge, built more than eight centuries before. It had 18 solid stone piers, with bulky stone arches and was covered from end to end with buildings. On the "Tailor's gate," at one end, the heads of traitors were shown. It was removed on account of its obstruction to navigation.

JUSTICE FOR INDIANS.

A bill has passed the House of Representatives, and is expected to become a law, which provides that American Indians may become citizens of the United States on presentation to courts of record papers discharging them from the army or navy. It is stated that fully ten thousand Indians entered our military service and that the number of those active in the late war was really much greater, many not having enlisted from reservations. It is on record that the Indians fought well and that many of them sacrificed their lives. The House bill may and ought to be the beginning of the grant of citizenship to the great majority of the Indians, for at present they are not less qualified for citizenship than many white men and are better qualified than many negroes.

Except in the case of the Indians satisfactory war service has always been regarded as sufficient qualification for citizenship. Why has the rule been overlooked in their case? It is difficult to find a satisfactory answer to the question, why in a boasted democracy have the aboriginal Americans, or at least the better classes of them not been made citizens? The negroes have been citizens for more than half a century, while even the best of the Indians have remained only "wards." Why this discrimination in favor of a race brought here in bonds from the savage African bush and against the original American race that was always free and fought for its territory to the last? Is it because the numerous blacks profited through a white man's quarrel, while the surviving Indians have been too few for their votes to interest any political party?

This question was rendered the more pertinent by the return from Europe of so many young Indians with good fighting records, 17,000 in all, according to the claim of some of them who promptly made protest against a resumption of the status of mere "wards." Early last spring one of these protests—from Chief Skinbucker of the Yakima Reservation, Washington—attracted wide attention and probably helped toward the passage of the bill mentioned above. This chief's "cry for freedom and citizenship" read in part as follows:

My people have volunteered and fought for the American flag in every war since the founding of this nation. As a nation, the aborigines have stood up and fought against all odds for their inherited rights. For more than four centuries we have continued this fight and lost. Will the white Americans forever hold as wards of their own country the crushed remnants of liberty-loving red Americans? We have been called savages. My people fought for their country, their home. If we are savages what of the white man? I would prefer talking about the heroic deeds of Sitting Bull than the desolating ravages of the Kaiser. We are Americans but not citizens. The I. W. W. and Bolsheviks are given more freedom than we true Americans. In this white man's war 17,000 redskins served the colors of the flag which floats over their throats. Eighty-five per cent volunteered their blood for American freedom of the world. My people took fifty millions in Liberty bonds, donated two millions to Red Cross. We are 100 per cent Americans. We are not pro this and pro that. We are not foreigners to be naturalized. Freedom is planted in every Indian heart.

"Switzerland is a wonderful nation," declared Major J. A. Louder, of Pittsburgh, in an interview with a Washington Post correspondent recently. "It is a melting pot in a way for various nations. This country is perhaps the greatest experimental field in the world in many lines—politically, economically and socially." But Switzerland is unwilling to accept the invitation to join the league of nations unless she can do so on her own terms and with her own reservations. To enter unreservedly is an experiment she is unwilling to try. The United States is also a melting pot, far greater than Switzerland. Thirty-three per cent of our population is of foreign ancestry or of foreign parentage. We have been doing some experimenting ourselves in the political field of late years, without any particular benefits derived therefrom, and our economic experiments have about ruined the country. Switzerland's attitude toward the league is very much like that of the vast majority of the American people. And we have nearly all agreed it is high time to abstain for a season from experiments, and get back to a sound basis of government. That means the ousting of the hypocrites, the quacks, the demagogues, and the despots from control of the Administration.

Wilson intimates that "pro-German propaganda" is becoming active in this country to induce the United States to refuse to guarantee the peace settlement. Guarantees it how? By policing Europe? And who worked the "pro-German propaganda" for all it was worth in order to capture the 1916 election on the cowardly issue, "he kept us out of war"? Does Wilson think the people have forgotten the beer-hall conferences of the late German Bill Stone, which set that pro-German, pro-Wilson propaganda in motion?

N. D. J. MURPHY'S NEW FUNERAL CAR

Is Another Step in Progress of Business Now Approaching Fiftieth Anniversary—Improvements to Chapel.

Approaching the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of the business, Nicholas D. J. Murphy, undertaker, 140 and 142 Broadway, this enterprising business man has crowned the many improvements, enlargements and installations of modern apparatus for giving appropriate service and quiet, unostentatious handling of the dead, by bringing to Kingston the latest and most approved model of funeral car. It is the best that is made by the Motor Car Co., whose hearses are growing into popular favor.

Shaped along graceful and attractive lines not showy but richly plain in sombre colors, deep carvings, a dull black finish, beveled plate glass bearing the name "N. D. J. Murphy" in gold leaf, in small unobtrusive letters, this new funeral car is the de luxe of its class. The interior is fitted with the latest compartments giving service in loading and unloading; that is, quiet, careful and quick service. The interior is mahogany trim with black broadcloth draperies. The car carries the usual headlights with dimmers, side-lights and rear light for night travel. Large cord tires on the large wheel base give easy, quiet running of the car.

The best and most reliable 6-cylinder motor of 45 horse power made by the Continental Motors Corporation of Detroit, fitted with the Stromberg carburetor and the Delco ignition, the highest grade manufactured, insures reliable action, with all noise from starting, running and speed transmission practically eliminated. In a word, it is the highest developed in funeral cars.

By engaging Mr. Wachsmeyer, who is well known as an experienced embalmer and was in business on the Strand several years, to manage the Protestant patronage, and with equipments in accord with the funeral customs, both Catholic and Protestant, Mr. Murphy handles funerals for the general public demand. The improvements in fitting up his business place so that it gives complete working convenience and every accommodation required for funeral parties. Mr. Murphy has modern undertaker's building. On the first floor are the office, show room and stock room, while below an 80x30 foot floor of concrete construction in floor and walls are the garage and morgue.

The business was founded by Mr. Murphy's father, John J. Murphy, on the Strand, in 1872. In 1882 it was moved to 35 Broadway and in 1888 to its present location, N. D. J. Murphy took the business in 1911. Therefore it is 47 years old.

ATWATER SENT TO JAIL.

Poughkeepsie Broker Must Serve Ten Months Behind Bars.

Morton Atwater, 37 years old, a broker and son of Edward Atwater, wealthy Poughkeepsie banker, was sentenced to ten months in the Putnam county jail by Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins at Carmel, Putnam county, Friday.

Atwater, who was a member of the firm of Atwater, Foote & Sherill, brokers at Poughkeepsie, which failed more than a year ago, owing $1,000,000, had been indicted on charges of grand larceny, doing business while insolvent and hypothecating customers' securities. He was convicted only on the last count. Atwater's wife accompanied him to the jail. When he expressed dissatisfaction with the menu, which consisted of sweet corn, potatoes, bread and coffee, Sheriff Baxter agreed to serve him just one meal from his own table and did so. Beginning with dinner Friday night, however, the former broker will have to be content with prison fare. The sentence was a great shock to the prisoner, but he made no protest against going to jail.

Choragic Monument of Lysicrates Athens

The Choragic Monument of Lysicrates is one of the most beautiful examples of the Greek circular temple. Lysicrates erected this monument at his own expense on the Street on the Tripods about the year 334 B. C. The monument is of the Corinthian order and is 34 feet high.

We design and sell everything in monument work from a modest, dignified slab to a pretentious memorial. Talk over your monument problem with us. We will treat you courteously and serve you faithfully.

OVERHEATING IS GREAT NUISANCE

Barney Oldfield Compelled to Pull
Up Alongside Track and See Others Go By.

TELLS HOW TO PREVENT IT

Carbon Deposits in Cylinders is Most Prevalent Cause—Have These
Scraped or Otherwise Cleaned
Out Frequently.

(By BARNEY OLDFIELD.)
Several times in the course of my racing career I have had to pull up alongside the truck or road and watch the other boys speeding on to victory, while I, by decree of the great goddess, Chance, was out of it because excessive overheating had burned my engine up. So what I am going to say in regard to the causes of overheating comes, so to speak, from the heart.

While overheating is more commonly encountered in hot weather, it occurs even in the coldest regions. The ordinary owner probably considers it a nuisance, but little more. As a matter of fact chronic overheating contributes enormously to deterioration of the power plant. Make no mistake, overheating, except for a local and temporary cause, is something to be run down and remedied.

Some of the Causes.
There are a number of different causes of overheating, some mechanical, some functional and others due simply to the bad driving of the operator. One of the most frequent causes of overheating is simply driving with the spark retarded. When the spark is held this way the piston is on its way down in the cylinder before the explosion takes place. Obviously more of the cylinder wall is exposed to the heat of the flame and consequently the general temperature is raised.

Very often when a car is driven up a steep hill it is necessary to retard the spark to keep the engine from knocking. By the time you get to the top of the hill the radiator is boiling away like a teakettle.

Most Common Cause.
Of all the causes of overheating undoubtedly carbon deposits in the cylinders is the most prevalent. As a matter of fact, carbon deposits cause overheating simply because they cause the explosions to come at the wrong time, whereby too much cylinder wall is exposed with the results that I mentioned above. When the engine overheats, knocks and backfires, with an obvious loss of power, it is a safe bet that there is a lot of carbon in the cylinders. The cure, of course, is to have the carbon scraped or otherwise cleaned out at frequent intervals.

HURRY IS ALL AFFECTATION

Safe to Wager Money That Not One Driver in One Hundred Has Any Business to Worry About.

Not one person in one hundred is in as big a hurry as he thinks he is when he gets into an automobile. The chances are 100 to 1 that he hasn't any business worth bothering his head about, and very probably no head to bother with—speaking of the fellow whom you meet every day tearing along the road at breakneck speed and making a whole lot of noise and throwing over into the fields all the pike that the commissioners have spent the last year in hauling upon the road.

Manufacturers vie with one another in making smooth-running motors—quiet, inoffensive cars are the only kind that can be sold, says Wilmington Journal-Republican. But at that you can find many purchasers turning their attention first to arranging a cut-out for the muffler and making the button handy to one or both heels, and then practicing riding with both feet on it, so that nobody can make more noise than they! Such driving is an insult to the manufacturer of the car and an outrage to the public that has a right to be free from such annoyances.

LENGTHEN LIFE OF AIR BAGS

Clamp Screw Should Be Tightened Until Exact Size of Tire Is Obtained—Other Hints.

The life of an air bag can be greatly lengthened by observing the following rules:

When the tire is placed in the mold the clamp screw should be tightened until the exact size of the tire is obtained, and then given about one-half turn. This slightly decreases the size of the cavity and relieves the strain on the air bag. In addition to giving perfect results in the cure.

Never allow the bag to become flat, as this will cause cracks in the lining. Inject a little warm water into the bag each week in order to keep the inside of the bag moist.
Don't pull the bag out by the tube. Use the tape.

MUCH MONEY IS SAVED TO FARMER BY USE OF MOTORTRUCKS IN HAULING TO MARKET.

Farm Products Being Loaded on a Motortruck.

The average wagon load of wheat for the United States as a whole was 35 bushels in 1906 and 36 bushels in 1915; the motortruck load in 1915 was 54 bushels. For corn, the wagon loads of 1906 and 1915 were 30 bushels, and the motortruck load of 1915 was 58 bushels. The cotton load for 1906 and 1915 for wagons was 2.4 and 2.5 bales, respectively, and for motortrucks 6.8 bales in 1915.

Estimated Hauling Cost.
The estimated cost for hauling in wagons from farm to shipping point averaged in 1915 about 30 cents a ton a mile for wheat, 35 cents for corn, 45 cents for cotton; for hauling in motortrucks or by tractors the averages are 15 cents for wheat or corn and 18 cents a ton-mile for cotton. The motortrucks generally in use by farmers are not large trucks, but small ones whose nominal capacity is usually from one to two tons. In quite a number of counties throughout the country the trucks used for hauling are motor-over passenger cars. In some cases light wagons are attached to trailers to ordinary passenger cars, and produce is taken to market in this way. In North Dakota and California, as well as other states, tractors, each drawing several wagons, are used for hauling grain.

Everybody knows that the Freeman A Case-a-Word ad brings quick results. Try this?

NEW TEMPEST IN OLD TEAPOT

Alas, Poor Yorick! The Women
Simply Go Wild About This Chicago Man.

Chicago—Nature, which moves in mysterious ways her wonders to perform, as we gleaned from the third reader, performed so wondrously well in the case of Yorick Owen Henry as to render him irresistible with members of the other sex.

Alas, poor Yorick! Until yesterday the custodian of two adoring wives, singing in happy chorus, "Blessed Be the Tie That Binds," he found himself last night in a cell.

"I can't help it," Henry admitted, "What's a man to do? They go wild about me."

After Henry's curfew on his fatal heguty had somewhat abated the reporter learned from the desk sergeant that he was charged with larceny, bigamy, and forgery; also that sometimes

On His Menemey.

His name is R. J. Henry, Fred L. Henry, or again Adolph Henry.

Last year he was employed by the Stearns & White company, wholesale chemists. He met Miss Rose Ludwig, a stenographer, married her, and conducted her to his home, where he met the other Mrs. Henry, also a stenographer.

The two Mrs. Henrys lived in content and amity—Mrs. Henry, No. 1, on accompanying Mr. Henry and Mrs. Henry No. 2, on the honeymoon to Florida. About this time the Stearns & White company reported the police the disappearance of 700 worth of chemicals. They accused Henry.

Everything would have been all right at that, because Henry was living under the name of Ludwig, but he decided to return to Chicago, he rented rooms at 10 West Grand avenue and installed his establishment. And then the two wives quarreled, and one notified the police.

GIRL SAVES GARTER

Police Patrol Driver Is Given the Scare of His Life in the Rescue.

Oakland, Cal.—A garter that slipped at the wrong moment nearly wrecked Oakland's $5,000 patrol wagon.

The wagon was answering a hurry call. At Twelfth street and Broadway, in the center of the downtown district, a girl gowned in silk and furs started across the street. Half way over she halted, turned pale and made a wild clutch for her knee.

Pedestrians shouted a warning, but the girl was oblivious. She stooped over and began to fumble. The patrol wagon opened its siren, croaked a fancy curve, missed the girl, veered again, careened past a telephone pole, a narrow margin and right again.

Then only did the girl straighten up, bring something blue into view and continue modestly on her way. She saw the garter, but the patrol wagon driver got the scare of his life.

Ventriquist Admits It's a True Story

Los Angeles, Cal.—"Please let me down east, mister," came a deep voice, apparently from the casket, as Andrew J. Wilson, a negro employed by a Los Angeles transfer company, was engaged with another workman in unloading at a freight station there a coffin containing a body that had been shipped from a town in the middle West.

Wilson was just letting his end of the box down, with about two feet to go. He let it fall the two feet with a bang, and with a flying start he sprang down the street.

Police Sergeant Clyde Allen of Lone Beach, who was standing near the scene with a confidential friend, watched for the story.

At the Elmerdorf Street Church on Wednesday night Dr. S. Hall Young, who has spent 35 years in that country, will tell of his adventures during the Klondike rush and show one hundred pictures of scenes during those days. The lecture will be a liberal education on Alaska.

FALL DISPLAY WEEK CLOSES

All over the country communities are being upset and business disarranged because of strikes of every sort. From this sort of disturbance Kingston, has, happily, been practically free. But there seems to be the contagion in the air, and wherever possible to do anything to ward off this calamity to a community that is being done, either directly or indirectly.

Through the retail board of the chamber of commerce, Kingston has just been enjoying the privileges and profits of a remarkably successful Fall Display Week, which will come to its close this evening. Now it should be fully appreciated that the financial profits to the various merchants who participated in this movement are by no means all of the gains made by the venture.

The lesson learned from the Spring Press-Up Week and from the Fall Display Week, which has been of greatest value to the community and particularly to the merchants themselves has been that a sincere get-together spirit which has a regard for the benefit of the entire community, not just for an individual business, is an immeasurable asset to any community. This does not disregard the truth of the statement that "competition is the life of trade." But it does prove that whatever makes for the progress and good of the community does vitally react in addition to the progress and betterment of the individual. It creates a give and take spirit; an appreciation of the other man's view and ideas; and a general atmosphere of mutual benefit that makes for that sort of active contentment which has little patience with the "strike" spirit.

So in closing the final chapter of the Fall Display Week, it can honestly be said that it has been an unqualified success, financially, artistically, socially and in its general business influence.

SAVE THANKS FOR ARMISTICE

Arvent Gratitude to God Was First Thought of the Gallant Defenders of Verdun.

The artillery fire died out, and there was a pause that seemed like the sudden end of the world. Then from the 30 bells, high in the towers of the cathedral at Verdun, pealed forth those sliver tones that proclaimed again, "Peace on earth." The armistice had come.

Slowly the great doors of the cathedral opened and in rushed 600 killed soldiers. Doctor Maurer of the Red Triangle, says a writer in Association Men, quietly walked to the altar rail and knelt there. Captains, lieutenants and soldiers reached for the bell ropes, and he feared the opportunity for religious service was lost. But they saw the lonely figure and came into the choir space. As he rose all was quiet.

"Boys," he said, "I believe we all want to sing and that we ought to sing the Doxology."

At its close Doctor Maurer raised his hands, and Mohammedans, Catholics, Protestants and Jews bowed their heads and fell on their knees. Amid the ruins 600 soldiers knelt—Mohammedans bumping their heads on the stones, Catholics devoutly crossing themselves, and Jews and Protestants with hands clasped, faces shining and eyes lifted.

Doctor Maurer led in that ever-wonderful prayer, "Our Father Which Art in Heaven." He then suggested that the Americans sing, "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," while the English sang "God Save the King." At the close of the singing the French soldiers pushed forward and sang, as only Frenchmen can sing, the "Marseillaise."

The French general came forward and took Doctor Maurer's hands. "I want to thank you," he said, "for leading these men on this occasion of grace to offer praise to God for the deliverance of France and for the safety of the world."

WILL PLAY LOCAL COMPOSER'S SONG

On welcome home day, October 1, in honor of the soldiers and sailors who did gallant and willing service during the great war, Muller's Municipal Band of forty pieces will play while on the march and at the armory a patriotic march song and chorus written by a Kingston man. The composer is George F. Gminder of 115 Foxhall avenue and the music being of a most patriotic character. Mr. Gminder had hoped to have the soldiers and sailors sing the song, which is entitled "The Yankee Boys in France," at the armory during the serving of the dinner, but as the war heroes will be tired from the march and anxious to partake of the many good things which will be served by the ladies it was decided to omit the singing on that occasion. John M. Leopold of Muller's band, has arranged the band score for the forty instrumentalists, and being an adept in that line the rendition of "The Yankee Boys in France" is bound to make a musical hit. Mr. Gminder, the composer, has had the march song published in New York, and it will be on display at the music stores in Kingston and throughout the country.

The Income Tax.
The English income tax, first imposed by Pitt in 1798 as a war tax, was abolished at the Peace of Amiens in 1801, and again imposed on the resumption of hostilities in 1803. At the downfall of Napoleon it ceased to be levied for twenty-six years—1816-1842—when it was reimposed by Sir Robert Peel. In June, 1842, at seven pence in the pound, and produced about five million pounds. As showing the rapid advance of the country in prosperity, the tax which produced about seven hundred and ten thousand pounds for each penny of tax in 1842 yielded two million six hundred and ninety-one thousand four hundred and twenty-two pounds per penny in 1909-1910, and at the present time considerably over three million pounds for each penny.
